NEW YORK CITY

NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

ITS LOCATION, HISTORY, ADVANTAGES RESOURCES AND ATTRACTIONS

PREPARED AND COMPILED BY THE CITY CLERK.

To handle a great subject in a small way and yet do it justice is not an effort of facility. The Norfolk of 1912 is a great subject and the Greater Norfolk of the early future is still greater. A comprehensive review of any single item in the sum of Norfolk's credit, natural, industrial, or commercial, might easily fill a book, so that a general survey is the most to be expected from the few pages or paragraphs herein accorded it.

Norfolk is a genuine city of opportunity, and to let these opportunities be known is the main object of this compilation. Here Nature and Industry have met in friendly alliance to strive for the commercial prestige of the South Atlantic coast. Not only is Norfolk a natural point of assembly and distribution, but it is also a point of production, conditions which are fast bearing her to her destiny as a metropolis of the South.

POPULATION.

The growth of Norfolk during the past five years has been rapid. The present year will show a large gain in population and a large gain in new buildings. Norfolk had in 1880 a population of 21,966, in 1890 a population of 34,871, in 1900 a population of 46,624, and in 1912 a population of 81,524 while the commercial population, including those living outside the city, but engaged in business in Norfolk, will increase the population to fully 100,000.

THE MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

The legislative and administrative branches of Norfolk's government comprise a Mayor, a Board of Control consisting of three members, a Common Council and a Board of Aldermen.

The policy of the City Council is for all progressive movements that tend to the City's best interests. Permanent improvements are continually provided for, and the streets of the City will compare favorably with those of the largest cities.

Rates for gas and electric power are regulated by ordinance. The Water Works are owned and operated by the City.

CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS.

Norfolk has about seventy-seven churches with a large aggregate membership. Many of them are very fine and beautiful buildings. St. Paul's Church, built in 1739, was almost the only building that escaped destruction in 1776, when the town was burned by the British.

The School system is one of the best in the South. The New High School costing about $325,000.00, is thoroughly equipped for academic and technical training. The system has 36 buildings, 301 teachers and 10,538 scholars.

The value of School Property is about $1,000,000.00.

HOTELS, PROMINENT BUILDINGS, INSTITUTIONS AND STORES.

Norfolk has some of the best and finest hotels to be found anywhere. The Lynnhaven, The Monticello, Lorraine, Algonquin, Fairfax and others, giving ample accommodations to the traveling public.

Among the prominent buildings and institutions are the Custom House, Marine Hospital, Sarah Leigh Hospital, Protestant Hospital, St. Vincent's Hospital, Bank of Commerce Building, Citizens' Bank Building, Board of Trade Building, Dickson Building and Law Building.

With the present increasing growth Norfolk will soon become one of the greatest American Cities in point of population as well as in commercial importance. A distinctive feature is the immense stretch of water front property. The stores of Norfolk, wholesale and retail, are up to the standard for a city of its size.

PARKS.

Norfolk has a fine park of about one hundred acres and a number of smaller ones, where thousands of people enjoy the pleasures afforded by the Zoo, the Music, shade and various attractions.

COMMERCIAL, TRANSPORTATION AND SHIPPING ADVANTAGES AND FACILITIES; AND STATISTICS OF INDUSTRIES.

Norfolk's shipping and transportation facilities place it in the front rank of American Seaports. Steadily there have grown a number of industries that now rank among the largest in the world; its coal shipments are among the largest in the world. Its lumber interests are the largest in the South, aggregating some 900,000,000 feet of sawed and rehandled product, exporting logs, squared timber and staves. The peanut market is the largest in the world, 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 bushels being handled here each year. Its trucking interests are among the most extensive in America. Its oysters are of the finest flavor, the oyster and fish industry being a feature of considerable magnitude. Prominent among the business enterprises of the City is the Creosoting industry, this port being the greatest center in the world in this trade.

Another important industry that occupies a place of prominence is the manufacture of fertilizers. Norfolk has some of the most perfectly equipped fertilizer plants in the country, whose products exceed 250,000 tons annually. Norfolk makes large shipments of cotton (822,930 bales in 1905), oysters, lumber, grain, fruits, wines, vegetables, fish and live stock. The City is combined with Portsmouth in one customs district, the foreign trade of which in 1906 amounted to $11,678,000 in exports and $869,399 in imports. Among the manufactures are foundry and machine shop products, lumber, ice, fertilizers, cotton goods, silk goods, knit goods, wagons, carriages, bricks, barrels, boxes, crates, cutlery, farming implements, cabinet and mantels, butter-dishes, creosoted wood, paper boxes. In 1900 the value of the factory products was $4,691,779; in 1905 it was $5,900,129, an increase of 25.8 per cent. in five years. The water works are owned and operated by the municipality.

The growth of any town necessarily depends upon its transportation facilities. In this matter Norfolk is particularly fortunate. Its eight trunk lines have a total mileage of 25,000 miles.

In the matter of steamship lines Norfolk has the Merchants and Miners' Co., giving daily service to Boston and Providence; the Old Dominion Steamship Co., giving daily service to New York, and river service to various points in Eastern Virginia, including Richmond; the Clyde Line Steamship Co., whose vessels ply between Norfolk and Philadelphia; the Chesapeake Steamship Company, and the Baltimore Steam Packet Co., with a daily service to Baltimore; the Norfolk and Washington Steamship Co., giving communication daily with Washington. This means, of course, that freight rates in Norfolk by reason of competition are extremely advantageous.

ITS HARBORS.

Norfolk has one of the best harbors on the Atlantic Coast; deep and easily accessible through a thirty-foot channel way, (soon to be 35 feet) affording ample facilities for the largest ships and anchorage and wharfage room.

The harbor, always open, is sufficiently deep and spacious to float and accommodate with ample room and perfect safety the combined navies of the world. It is situated about the middle of the whole vast extent of our Atlantic seacoast, the nearest and most convenient location for the depot and shipment of the incalculable wealth of the interior of Virginia and North Carolina, and, in fact, of a large portion of the great West; in convenient proximity not only to the ocean, and the bold and beautiful Chesapeake, but also to rivers, deep and wide, that wash and drain some of the most productive portions of the Union, with a climate almost always pleasant and remarkably salubrious, and which is seldom uncomfortably warm in summer, and rarely too cold in winter.

THE NATION'S NAVAL CITY.

That the National Government is duly cognizant of the supreme importance of Norfolk as the country's naval base is shown in the various massive fortifications which it has erected in the vicinity. In addition to the extensive works at Fortress Monroe, properly termed "The key to the Capital," there are minor defenses at points along Hampton Roads and the Chesapeake Bay which include Fort Wool and the smaller battery within the City limits on the Elizabeth river. Plans are being considered for extensive works at Cape Henry to guard the entrance to Chesapeake Bay, and these will doubtless be of sufficient power to effectually resist invasion at the very threshold of the continent.

The United States Naval Training Station at Norfolk and Portsmouth is the largest in the country. Here is also located the great United States Navy Yard, capable of building and repairing the largest battleships.

Across the harbor, at Newport News, is located the greatest ship-building plant in America, the proximity of which to Norfolk entitles this city to claim its share in this stupendous enterprise.

NORFOLK'S STRIDE FORWARD.

Norfolk possesses in a superior degree the compelling combination of conditions and circumstances to build up a great metropolis. Lying in the very center of the great commercial zone it holds a strategic position as a favored point on the line of least resistance. The extent of territory tributary to Norfolk is well nigh continental. The environment of the City is one of the richest agricultural districts of the Nation. Norfolk feeds herself and is one of the largest contributors to the feeding of New York and other dependent places. Manufacturers are locating and will continue to locate here by reason of superior advantages of entry and distribution. The excellence of the climate together with natural beauty of environment, offers surpassing opportunities for health and pleasure-seekers and home-makers, and these considerations, equally with the commercial, are gaining rapid recognition throughout the country.

SOLID BASIS OF NORFOLK'S PROSPERITY.

To the advancement of a community there are numerous causes, but the firmest foundation of prosperity is built upon agriculture and commerce. In sufficient measure either will alone make a community great, but, as in the case of Norfolk, when there is combination of these economic factors, the condition is commanding. The section in which Norfolk is located, generally known as "Tidewater Virginia," is among the most fertile in the State and ranks with the best lands anywhere. Norfolk is a seaport which produces a considerable portion of the exports which leave its wharves, but, in addition it is the legitimate clearing house for the immense section westward to the Mississippi and these are the potential elements behind the prosperity of the city and section.

NORFOLK A CONVENTION CITY.

The manner in which Norfolk has on numerous occasions handled and cared for exceptionally large crowds of strangers, has given her a reputation as a Convention City.

A half a dozen commodious and well-equipped hotels have been within the past few years added to the sum of Norfolk's hostelries, and in the manner of hotel accommodations the City is more than well provided. This was demonstrated upon the occasion of the "Atlantic Deeper Waterways Convention," held at Norfolk, November 17-21, 1909, when President Taft spent a day in the city. There were many hundred delegates besides members of their families and friends, yet every individual was comfortably cared for without in the least crowding or disarranging the hotel accommodations of the city.

Certainly in the items of natural interest, in its many adjacent sea-side resorts and also historical scenes, Norfolk is a Convention City second to none. Convention delegates invariably seek to combine pleasure with their business and in Norfolk they find the facilities unrivalled.

THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION.

In August, 1908, there was created by ordinance, under provision of the City Charter, a department known as "The Board of Commercial and Industrial Interests," better known as "The Industrial Commission." This Board consists of eight members, serving without compensation, selected as follows: Three members from the Common Council, two from the Board of Aldermen, and three citizens at large, the latter being appointed by the Mayor, each to serve two years.

The ordinance creating this Commission defines its duties and powers in a general and comprehensive way, recommending to its consideration all matters of internal improvement now in existence, or which may be projected from time to time, the commercial, industrial and manufacturing interests of the City, the guardianship of its rights and privileges in all matters of transportation and communication, whether by land or water, by telegraph, telephone, or otherwise.

While the Commission has no executive powers, still it may be easily seen that the wide latitude given it by the ordinance, makes it an advisory factor of great value, relieving the Council of much detail work.

In addition to the above, one of the principal functions of the Commission is to exploit and advertise the City by every means in its power. To this end, an annual appropriation is made for its use in this direction, with the result that high class literature is prepared and distributed over the whole country, as well as in the local hotels, and on the various steamship lines.

Its office is known as a Bureau of Information, where a Secretary may be found at all times during the business hours of the day, prepared to furnish the traveling public, or any others, with any information they might desire concerning the City and vicinity.

The work of the Industrial Commission has been most successful since its inception, as a factor in the matter of improvement and development of the City, it continues to grow daily in value and importance.

NORFOLK REAL ESTATE

IT is a fact worth recording that during the panics of the past, property values of Norfolk suffered less fluctuation or disturbance than in any other city of the United States. Panics may come and go, but the realty values of Norfolk stand solid and impregnable like the rock of "Gibraltar."

In many of the "brag" cities recent disastrous panics knocked the bottom out of real estate values, as many unfortunate investors, some of whom are in Norfolk today, can sadly testify. But in solid, substantial old Norfolk, which has rarely hitherto had a word to say for herself, not only did property values hold their own, but speculators were buying and selling to their advantage right in the midst of the worst general depression.

No better test of the stability of a community could be applied, and the manner in which Norfolk has repeatedly stood that test is a commercial and financial fact that commands attention.

Fine Crops of Tobacco

can be raised if the ground is properly prepared before setting out the plants, and you liberally

Use

Virginia=Carolina

High-Grade

Fertilizers

Then you should nourish the crop at frequent intervals during the growing period with the same plant food. Work well, being careful to feed the crop with only Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers, made especially for tobacco. This will insure a big crop of fine, high-grade tobacco that will yield big money.

Profitable farming is fully explained in our new free FARMERS' YEAR BOOK, or almanac, and it is yours for the asking.

The Evolution of a Great Idea

Its Stupendous Value to Humanity is being Daily Demonstrated.

The PSYCHOMOTOR is a simple mechanical device linking thought to material expression in a way to make leisure hours a source of delight and profit.

Like the Typewriter, the Telegraph and the Telephone, it serves a purpose. It meets the logical requirement of a visible and objective assistant to mental and physical realization.

It is applicable to every phase of human life and expression.

It is an integral part of THE SHELDON LEAVITT METHODS.

For the Ill it is more Curative than Medicine; for the Unhappy it is a Wellspring of Joy, and for the Unsuccessful it is a help to Better Things.

It is a means of curing many a heartache, removing many a pain, giving strength to the weak, courage to the fainthearted and prosperity to the poor.

It is a boon to everybody.

We shall be glad to tell you about it.

Address MAGNUM BONUM ASSOCIATION, 4661 Lake Av., Chicago.

Eyeglasses Not Necessary

Eyesight Can Be Strengthened, and Most Forms of Diseased Eyes Successfully Treated Without Cutting or Drugging.

That the eyes can be strengthened so that eye glasses can be dispensed with in many cases has been proven beyond a doubt by the testimony of hundreds of people who publicly claim that their eyesight has been restored by that wonderful little instrument called "Actina." "Actina" also relieves sore and granulated lids, iritis, etc., and removes cataracts without cutting or drugging. Over 95,000 "Actinas" have been sold, therefore "Actina" is not an experiment, but a reliable method of treatment.

"Actina" can be used by old and young with perfect safety. It is impossible to do harm with one. Every member of the family can use the one instrument for any form of disease of the Eye, Ear, Throat or Head. One will last for years, and is always ready for use. It will be sent on trial, postpaid.

If you will send your name and address to the Actina Appliance Co., Dept. 213-N, 811 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Mo., you will receive, absolutely FREE, a valuable book—Professor Wilson's Treatise on Disease.
